VdS approval for Taktis Addressable fire alarm panels

Kentec are proud to announce that their range of Taktis EN approved Addressable Fire Alarm panels have successfully achieved VdS approval.

Kentec Electronics is one of the world's leading life safety solutions manufacturers and approvals are a key part in demonstrating product quality and performance to a global market. EN standards are key to meeting the requirements of our European distributors, installers and end users.

VdS approval provides a recognised certification to enable sale of Taktis EN products in Germany and its surrounding countries.

A copy of the VdS certificate is available on our website, click on the link below:
